5 Britons and 4 Arabs Injured in Explosions

Britain, France Sign Alliance

DUNKERQUE, France, (AP)—Britain and France Tuesday signed a 50-year alliance designed to provide mutual protection against any future aggression by Germany.

The agreement was signed by Foreign Secretary Bevin of Britain, en route to the four-power foreign ministers' meeting in Moscow, and by Foreign Minister Bidault of France, who planned to leave Wednesday to join him and the American and Russian representatives there.

The pact covered the transfer of a huge amount of military and naval material sold or lent to France by Britain since France's liberation.

Similar accords are proposed with Holland, Belgium, Czechoslovakia and Poland to ring Germany with a new entente.

In some quarters the alliance of Dunkerque was hailed as a precursor of a treaty of Moscow in which the Big Four bind themselves for 40 to 50 years against any resurgence of German might or war potential.

British and French flags fluttered over war-devastated Dunkerque, mingling with the blue and white striped flags of the city itself.

Infantry troops, republican guards and bands formed lanes behind which more than 5,000 persons jammed to watch the official delegations proceed to the tiny room at the bomb-damaged sub-prefecture where the treaty was signed.

Resents Treatment Of Aged Pensioners

WINNIPEG, (CP)—Lewis St. G. Stubbs (Ind., Winnipeg) said in the legislature Monday night he would not vote for a government which did not "see fit" to share its $6,000,000 in pension profits in benefits for the old-age pension recipients. Instead, he said, would support the C.C.F.'s want-of-confidence amendment to the address in reply to the throne speech.

"A province that can spend over $20,000,000 on its annual liquor bill and a government that can make over $6,000,000 annual profit on its liquor business can certainly afford to provide a decent existence for its aged people. If this government were guilty of no other sin, I would vote against it on this ground alone," the fiery Winnipeg Independent said.

Alberta Defeated In Third Round

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP)—The Manitoba rink skipped by Jimmy Welsh of Deer Lodge club, Winnipeg, retained the only undefeated squad in the Canadian curling championships here, swamping Sandy Campbell's rink from Avonlea, Sask., 22-7 in a third round match Tuesday.

British Columbia, Ontario, Nova Scotia and northern Ontario follow in second place with two wins and a loss each. Saskatchewan, Alberta, Quebec and New Brunswick have one victory and two losses each. While Prince Edward Island has yet to win a match in three rounds.

Alberta, after tying its match with Ontario 3-3 after six ends of saw-saw play, went down two in the seventh end, tied it again in the eighth, matched Ontario's ninth and two with a pair in the 10th and went down two again in the 11th when after a punishing knockout game, the MacMillan rink had one stone in, and drew in the last rock for two.

In the final, Palmer had two rocks on the three-foot ring that would have tied the game again, but MacMillan's last stone drew in for second position and cut the count to one.

Weds Fourth Time

CHUR, Switzerland, (AP)—The marriage registry bureau said Tuesday that Barbara Hutton and Prince Igor Troubetzkoy, 34, were married here last Saturday.

The marriage was the fourth for the 34-year-old heiress to the Woolworth dime store fortune, and her second to a prince.

The weather

Forecast: Clear and very cold with light winds.

With clear skies again northern Alberta temperatures dropped rapidly Monday night to 30 below zero at several points. The coldest spot was Red Deer at 33 below. Temperatures are far from normal in all sections of the western prairies, particularly in Alberta where it is 20-30 degrees under normal for early March. In Saskatchewan it is 10-20 degrees below the seasonal average.

It will be very cold in northern Alberta again Tuesday night and with clearing skies in other regions temperatures will drop to 15 to 25 below.

Estimated low tonight, 30 below. Estimated high tomorrow, zero.

At Edmonton Wednesday, sun rises 7:14; sets 6:18.

Yesterday's maximum, 1 below. Overnight low, 30 below.

Snowfall, trace.

Friendly Sun Welcomed Warmly In Fuel-Starved London

The sun made front page news in London newspapers recently when it broke through the clouds after three long weeks, during which icy winds, heavy snow-storms and low temperatures, spread misery over the fuelless country. It was an event of the utmost importance, and photographers rushed out to take pictures. This one was taken in Liverpool station, usually a bustling place but deserted the Sunday this picture was taken. The event made headlines not only in Britain, but in many other countries of the world.

'Barkless' Basenji Shatters Tradition

LONDON, (AP)—The barkless Basenji breed of non-yapping dog has shattered a 6,000-year-old tradition. One of them woofed.

The sound was clearly heard at the Britja Basenji club's annual championship show Saturday and stirred up one of the hottest dog arguments in decades. The big question: Did the dog bark or just woof?

London newspapers said it was a bark, definitely.

But Miss Veronica Tudor Williams, secretary of the Basenji club, took issue.

"It was a most unfortunate sound," she said, "but it was hardly a bark. It was sort of a woofing noise. I've never heard anything like it before."

St. Laurent, speaking on the foreign affairs debate, slashed at the outcast with Howard Green, Prog. Cons., Vancouver South. He said that he was in sharp disagreement with part of Mr. Green's speech.

"I am not prepared," said Mr. St. Laurent, "to recommend to this house that we go back to the pre-Statute of Westminster days."

Mr. Green protested that the external affairs minister was attempting to "twist" his speech.

"I can assure him I did not have that meaning, and that I am just as strong for Canada as he is, or any other member on that side of the house," he declared heatedly.

Mr. St. Laurent repeated that the implications of Mr. Green's speech led him to believe Mr. Green wished the government to retrace steps which it was not prepared to retrace.

Storms Disrupt Services in East

Winter Tuesday seemed unaware it was supposed to be drawing toward its official close.

For western Canadians, winter dragged on with clear skies and sub-zero, fuel-fueled temperatures. For easterners, the worst storm of the winter was blowing itself out, but leaving behind snow records, power shut-downs and disruptions of almost every type of public service.

In Edmonton, as in all of Alberta and the prairies, temperatures were 9 to 30 degrees below normal for early March. After a minimum of 30 below overnight, the temperature climbed to nine below by noon, but 30 below again was forecast as the Tuesday-Wednesday night low.

The northern fringes of western Canada had it milder early Tuesday than the more southerly regions, with Whitehorse reporting 16 above.

The eastern storm dumped 30 inches of snow into Ottawa, to smash a record of inches in one storm recorded in 1934. The west kept pace, when continuous snow for the past few days at Lethbridge boosted the winter's total to 101.6 inches, outdoing the 1919-20 record of 96 inches. Edmonton's normal winter average snowfall of 31.4 inches was surpassed at the end of February when snow total was already 45.2 inches.

Major eastern cities bearing the brunt of the record storm were Halifax, Saint John, Moncton, Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto.

There were power failures for long periods in Halifax, Moncton and Quebec. Wire communications were badly interrupted, as were all types of transportation.

Winds in Quebec reached 66 miles an hour, ripping roofs off at least two houses. Hundreds of skiers were stranded at resorts outside Montreal and Quebec. Motorists were warned to stay off all Ontario highways to cut down the storm's climbing death toll. More than 100 rural schools were closed.

A rail tie-up saw rural lines in Quebec and Ontario blocked and main line services almost halted.

Maybe the Bears Are Afraid Of Freezing if They Go to Sleep

MOOSE JAW, Sask. (CP)—Bears at Moose Jaw wild animal park are awake today as they have been all winter despite all known laws of nature, and attendants say it is the weather story to end all weather stories.

The black bears ordinarily retire at the beginning of November and end their hibernation in March but this year the animals have kept park officials busy all winter. Every second day the bears are fed scraps of bread and fish.

Bewildered attendants can hazard only this explanation: Blizzards came progressively worse and the bears decided it was worthwhile to stay awake just to see what would happen next.

The winter has been a generally

Minister Says Canada Plans Independent Foreign Policy

By H. R. Hardy

OTTAWA—Canada is going to have "a foreign policy of its own" and not going to be "merely the instrument" to carry out a foreign policy dictated by someone else.

Hon. Louis St. Laurent, secretary of state for external affairs, told the commons Monday night.

Mr. St. Laurent, speaking on the foreign affairs debate, slashed at the outcast with Howard Green, Prog. Cons., Vancouver South. He said that he was in sharp disagreement with part of Mr. Green's speech.

"I am not prepared," said Mr. St. Laurent, "to recommend to this house that we go back to the pre-Statute of Westminster days."

Election Talked In Saskatchewan

REGINA, (CP)—The question of whether Canada's only C.C.F. government will call an election this year has Saskatchewan's political forecasters pondering.

Walter Tucker, provincial Liberal leader and member of parliament for the northern Saskatchewan constituency of Rothenham, said he is convinced the C.C.F. will call an election this year.

But the government's term of office, which started in June, 1944, is not due to end until 1949. It has been customary, however, to call provincial elections every four years.

Mr. Tucker, elected to the provincial leadership last summer, has been criticized by the C.C.F. for what is termed his "absenteeism."

The C.C.F. has offered to call a bye-election if Mr. Tucker will give his commons sense to enter the Saskatchewan legislature. In this matter of bye-elections, the provincial government is confident, with a record of comfortable victories in all three called since they came to power.

Stalin Resigns As Forces Head

LONDON, (AP)—Prime Minister Stalin, after six years as commander of the vast Russian military organization, resigned as minister of the armed forces Monday.

Stalin stepped out of the military office only a week before the four-power foreign ministers' conference was scheduled to open in Moscow.

The change in the top military command came as the Soviet Union gradually de-emphasized military activities and demobilized millions of soldiers to enter industry and to accelerate the current five-year plan. Stalin stepped out of the military office only a week before the four-power foreign ministers' conference was scheduled to open in Moscow.

Stalin, who retains his post as prime minister, also will continue as a member of the presidium, general secretary of the central committee of the Communist party, head of the powerful politburo and of the supreme command with four branches—land, navy, air and rear.

Stalin was named the chief vice-minister of the armed forces a year ago when the Russian military machine was reorganized under a unified command.

Four Lose Lives In Chicago Fire

CHICAGO, (AP)—Two men and a woman leaped to their deaths and one man was fatally burned in a fire which swept through a west side rooming house early Tuesday.

Six other persons suffered injuries as nearly 100 tenants fled from the four-story structure.

Police gripped many of the tenants as they were aroused by heavy smoke. An unidentified woman, about 50, and Warren C. Crockett, about 70, plunged from third-floor windows and were dead on arrival at hospital. Another tenant, Michael Kriestovitch, 47, also leaped from a third-floor window and died a few hours later.

After firemen extinguished the blaze they found the charred body of a man on his bed in an attic loft.

U.S. Navy to Stage 'Attack' on Hawaii

PEARL HARBOR, (AP)—Current naval war games in the Pacific will end with a simulated attack on Hawaii about March 15, the United States navy announced Tuesday.

The forces will return to Anchorage here March 15.

JERUSALEM, (AP)—Anti-British violence claimed new victims in Palestine Tuesday as the Jewish underground proclaimed the existence of a state of "open war" in the strife-torn Holy Land.

Five British soldiers were wounded—two seriously—when a military truck was wrecked by an explosion near Rishon Le Zion Tuesday, and four Arabs were injured when an R.A.F. vehicle was blown up by a road mine near Ramle.

A British military office in Haifa was bombed during the night and an army camp near Hadera was the target of a "small-scale" attack, British authorities said, but no casualties were reported in these incidents.

In the sectors of Jerusalem and the coastal plain where British authorities proclaimed martial law during the week-end the situation was reported quiet.

In the Jewish city of Tel Aviv, within the martial law zone, all banks remained closed and a statement said they lacked currency to operate. Approximately $4,000,000 was reported withdrawn Monday by residents who apparently feared an official closing.

The Jewish underground's assertion that "open warfare" exists in Palestine brought from Lt.-Gen. G. H. A. MacMillan, commander of British troops in Palestine, a quick statement that "there is no question of the army being at war with the Jewish population or anyone else in Palestine."

"The function of the army is to assist the police in maintaining law and order, as the police force alone is insufficient in present circumstances," MacMillan said in an address to the headquarters staff.

The underground communique was issued by Irgun Zvai Leumi and the pamphlet accepted responsibility for the bombing of a British officers' club in Jerusalem Saturday in which 16 persons were killed and more than a dozen injured.

Irgun claimed it had successfully attacked British army camps at Petah Tiqva and Hadera in retaliation against the imposition of martial law on more than one-third of Palestine's 600,000 Jews.

Pamphlets signed by Irgun telling of the purported attacks said, "All our soldiers returned safely from recent operations, and we now declare that open warfare exists in Palestine."

The Jewish Agency, warning of the possibility of "absolute anarchy and chaos," demanded that Britain define terms of martial law imposed Sunday.

Haikanah, armed force of the Jewish Agency, accused Britain of "deliberately destroying the Jewish economy." The Agency itself said military law had brought "economic damage to hundreds of thousands of people who have nothing whatever to do with terror and crime."

The agency, indignant over the slaying of two Jews by British authorities within the last 24 hours, asked whether such killings were considered "right" under terms of martial law.

One of those killed was a four-year-old girl, Ketia Shalom, shot Sunday night while standing with her mother on the balcony of a house in the martial law area of Jerusalem. The mother also was wounded. British officials said the girl's parents apparently had quarreled, and that soldiers opened fire when the father tried to leave the house.

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y. (AP)—Authoritative sources said Tuesday Britain is studying the possibility of creation of a United Nations special "fact-finding" commission to handle the Palestine case.

This method of approaching one of the world's most complicated situations was understood to be under serious consideration by Secretary-General Trygve Lie as perhaps the best means of getting immediate action on the Holy Land dispute.

Churchill led the furious opposition attack on the proposed limitation on the time the legislation may remain before the house committees, Arthur Greenwood, lord privy seal and acting floor leader of the House of Commons, said in a resolution limiting the committee discussion of the bills, said the government is trying a new experiment to facilitate the legislative program.

Interrupted by an opposition member shouting, "Call it the repeal act and be done with it," Greenwood replied: "I think all the potential fuelburners are on the opposition side."

U.S., Canada, Britain Plan 3-Service School at Rivers

By Dick Sanburn

OTTAWA—The establishment of a three-service joint air school at Rivers, Man., the first such defence installation of its kind in Canada, was announced Tuesday by Defence Minister Claxton.

Organization is proceeding now, and the school will be in partial operation this year. It will not be in full swing until sometime in 1948.

Vital feature of the new tri-service station is that it will include detailed instruction in techniques used by both British and United States forces, in addition to Canadian techniques, so that Canadian forces will be trained to operate equally efficiently with the land, ground and air forces of both Britain and the U.S.

Formerly there were tentative plans to set up a somewhat similar kind of station at Carberry, Man., but Rivers has been chosen instead.

During the war, Rivers was one of the biggest air navigation schools in Canada under the air training plan.

Other salient features of the new organization at Rivers:

1. It is entirely new in concept, and will embrace the army, navy and air force.

2. Its chief task will be the training of Canadian forces in air transport and airborne operations.

3. There will be training for the R.C.A.F. in army support roles.

4. Training will be provided at Rivers for portions of the basic army brigade group as paratroops. This means that parachute troop training facilities, which have operated at Shilo, Man., will be moved to Rivers.

5. Special air service companies from the basic brigade group of Canada's peacetime permanent army will be attached to the Rivers school for one year.

6. The scope of the instruction to be given will embrace techniques required for airborne work in all climatic conditions to be found in Canada.

7. Rivers will also be the home base for the R.C.A.F. tactical wing.

8. The R.C.A.F. will have one more special task at Rivers, and that will be to train selected army men as pilots for gliders and light aircraft.

9. Signaller's apprentice, particularly pleased with their wireless sets and other equipment. Their reports and those of other service arms will eventually be correlated at Ottawa as a full appraisal of the results of the first full winter of testing in the north.

The R.C.A.F. has been testing three-inch rockets used by their wartime Typhoons and Mustangs and find they fire from the ground after months of exposure in the snow. Some 150-175 have been fired without misfire and if the record continues, they will be attached to the Tempest fighter and tested from the air.

Most Second Great War Weapons Function Efficiently in Cold

CHURCHILL, Man. (CP)—With a slit trench comparable to the size of those which Canadians shovelled in the soil of Europe.

As far as weapons, officers say they have stood up well. Artillery pieces have been left out in the cold for weeks and continued to fire, although gunners said some alterations in lubrication and metallurgy might be recommended.

At a rough guess, it would probably cost at least $50 to blast out

Britain to Speed Nationalization

LONDON, (CP)—The Labor government majority in the commons won its fight early Tuesday to speed up nationalization of business and industry when a motion to carry two major pieces of social legislation out of committee by April 3 was passed by a 289-to-130 vote.

Ignoring Winston Churchill's cry that "liberties and the free life of Britain are in great danger from socialism" the motion was carried amid boos and cries of "sag! sag!" from the Conservatives.

The bills would nationalize transport—railroads, trucks and buses—and put all future real estate development under close government supervision. Both already have passed a second reading and when the committee reports them out on April 3 they will be put up for formal third reading.

Churchill led the furious opposition attack on the proposed limitation on the time the legislation may remain before the house committees, Arthur Greenwood, lord privy seal and acting floor leader of the House of Commons, said in a resolution limiting the committee discussion of the bills, said the government is trying a new experiment to facilitate the legislative program.

U.S. Draft Law To 'Die' March 31

WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Truman told congress Monday to let the United States draft law die March 31 but gave notice a renewal will be sought later if voluntary recruiting fails to keep 1,641,000 men under arms.

The army announced simultaneously that it will discharge the 1,000,000 draftees remaining in its ranks—those in the United States by May 15, those overseas by June 30—making it an entirely volunteer force. The navy already has released all draftees.

Actually no men have been drafted since last October, but the expiration of the act March 31 will mean:

1. Young men no longer will have to register upon reaching their 18th birthday.

2. The 4,000,000 older men already registered can tear up the registration cards they have been required to carry in their pockets.

3. The 6,442 local draft boards probably will go out of business entirely, and many of the 7,641 full-time and 1,437 part-time employees on the selective service payroll will be released.

4. Any incentive to enlist which the mere existence of the draft law provided, with its latent threat that young men might be drafted, will be removed.

Independent Policy Is Canada's Aim of the house, that Canada was going to have a foreign policy of its own and was not going to be merely the instrument to carry out a foreign policy made for us."

The part of Mr. Green's speech which Mr. St. Laurent apparently objected to was that in which the member for Vancouver South suggested that Canada send a representative to Moscow with the British foreign minister and "face the fact that the third great power is not Great Britain alone but the British Empire." He thought there could have been "Empire discussions" on the German and Austrian treaties.

"Great Britain, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and India could have met to decide what terms they want to put in these treaties, and probably Canada could have got an agreement to the submissions we had filed with us here on Jan. 30," said Mr. Green.

Fears Russian Clash

If Canada could not get full participation in any other way it should follow such course, he added. Later when the conference was called Canada could attend as a nation.

Mr. Green warned the house that sooner or later the United States and Russia would clash, and if they did Canada would become the Belgium of a third world war.

Speaking for the best part of an hour, Mr. St. Laurent sketched the place Canada has held among the other Allied nations in peace settlements and the control of Germany. He has sought to take "a constructive approach" knowing she had "everything to gain and nothing to lose" by a speedy settlement of the European situation. Canada realized that the primary responsibility of settlement rested with the four great powers—the United Kingdom, Russia, the United States, and France.

Canada "Kicked Out"

Answering the question raised during the afternoon by Gordon Graydon (Pres. Cons.), Mr. St. Laurent said Canada withdrew its occupation forces because they had been "kicked out." Canada has been told there were going to be four nations occupying Germany. Any one of them might be asked to accept Canada's help, but Canada would have had no force taking any part in the legal occupation of Germany.

Answering M. J. Coldwell, Mr. St. Laurent said that Canada's high commissioner in London was in constant communication with the representatives of other dominions and with other Allied nations on what views should be placed before the foreign deputies in London. But no question of joint action on the part of Allied nations had been raised. Each one made his own position known.

Canada had no objection appearing before the deputies, but it did object to doing anything from which it might be argued later that Canada had had its measure of participation in the settlement.

By John Bird

OTTAWA.—As had been shown on the opening day of this session, there is agreement in every corner of the house that Canada and other powers, outside the Big Four, should have a proper place in the framing of the peace treaties. Monday's debate served to underline the national unity already achieved and to give the opposition the opportunity to "go the government one better."

Gordon Graydon, P.C., Peet, speaking for the Progressive-Conservatives felt that the government had "missed the bus" at the Paris conference. It should have put forward demands for full participation in the peace treaties then.

Mr. Graydon felt the dominion had weakened its case for participation by unduly precipitate withdrawal of Canadian occupation forces from Germany. Certainly, he said, Canadian troops were anxious to come home and Canadians wanted them home, but there were at least equal numbers of troops in Canada wishing to get overseas. He cited Vincent Massey, former high commissioner for Canada in Britain, as saying that Canada's withdrawal did nothing to enhance national prestige or give evidence of Canadian willingness to assume responsibilities.

Mr. Graydon said "commonwealth members, particularly Canada, missed a grand opportunity to lift a little of the white man's burden which has been borne by Britain so well and honorably and efficiently."

C.C.F. leader M. J. Coldwell went bare-knisted after the Russians with a remark that only entitled socialists like himself and Bevin seem to display. He felt Canada should have sought to procure an organized protest among other so-called smaller countries, neglected in the peace treaty discussions.

Seldom have more barbed words about the U.S.S.R. come from Canadian lips in the Canadian parliament and these were from a Socialist, not from a Tory or a French-Canadian. The house sat up and took notice and applauded.

Pipeline Attacks May Go to U.N.

By Charles Nichols

LONDON.—The possibility of the Jewish terrorist attacks on the Iraq-Palestine pipeline may be referred to the United Nations security council, after that strategic international artery was damaged for the second time during the week-end.

The pipeline, which serves Britain, United States and France, is under British protection, but preservation of the supplies it carries from Iraq to the Mediterranean at Haifa is of strategic importance to the U.N.

British military guards will be strengthened on the line as a result of greater scope of defensive moves allowed by introduction of martial law in widespread sectors of the Holy Land.

Germans Ask Part In Moscow Talks

BERLIN, (AP)—The German people, millions of whom are still numbed into apathy by their severest winter in years, heard their political leaders raise an increasing demand Tuesday for a voice in the forthcoming deliberations on Germany at the foreign minister's council in Moscow.

The latest requests came from both leftist and rightist party functionaries in the Russian occupation zone, after similar requests had been made by leaders in western Germany.

Dr. Wilhelm Keitel, chairman of the rightist Liberal Democratic party, told a party meeting in Soviet-occupied Saxony that Germany's 60,000,000 people should be heard at Moscow through leaders of their political parties, declaring, "We could state our case clearly and factually, not for a mere orientation toward the east or west, but for an orientation whose name is 'Germany'."

Charges Padding In Georgia Vote

ATLANTA, Ga., (AP)—Dead persons, non-residents and even non-existent persons "voted" for the late Eugene Talmadge and his son, Herman, for governor of Georgia in the general election of 1946, the Atlanta Journal said Sunday.

Reporting documentary evidence of irregularities in the Helena district of Telfair county, home of the Talmadges, the Journal said the votes played a critical part in making Herman Talmadge eligible for election by the legislature to the term of his dead father.

Wheat Price Cut 2 Cents a Bushel

WINNIPEG, (CP)—The Canadian Wheat Board Monday reduced the open price for wheat two cents, leaving No. 1 northern at $2.72 a bushel after unprecedented advances last Friday and Saturday totalling 21 cents.

Dwindling supplies and the urgent overseas demand were given as reasons for the increases. The wheat price, set by the board for wheat sold for export to countries other than the United Kingdom, was increased six cents last Friday and 15 cents Saturday to bring it up to $2.75 a bushel basic Port William and Port Arthur.

This was in contrast with the price of $1.55 a bushel at which wheat is being disposed of to the United Kingdom under the wheat agreement.

Saturday's quotation was the highest for Canadian wheat since September, 1939, when the cash price of No. 1 northern was quoted at $2.85 a bushel on the open market.

The highest cash price ever recorded for Canadian wheat was May 3, 1917, when No. 1 northern brought $3.05 a bushel on the open market.

Gives 6-Year Term On Drug Charge

WINNIPEG, (CP)—Narcotic drug traffic "demoralizes the very life of the community and it must be stamped out," Mr. Justice Montague said Monday in sentencing Stewart Verduin Jacobs to six years in penitentiary and a fine of $200. Jacqueline Irene Desjardins, 23, a companion of Jacobs was sentenced to 2½ years in penitentiary and a fine of $200.

The two were arrested Sept. 24, 1946, charged with having in their possession 16,462 tablets of narcotic valued at $60,000 on the illegal drug market.

Dr. Boyer Enters Plea of Innocence

MONTREAL, (CP)—Dr. Raymond Boyer, Montreal scientist charged with violating the Official Secrets act, pleaded innocent Monday in court of King's bench. Trial was set for March 10.

Several sections are included in the charge, including one of having imparted secret information to Russia and another of having conspired with Fred Rose—former Labor-Progressive member for Montreal. Dr. Boyer now serving a six-year sentence for conspiracy to communicate unlawful information to Russia—and others to impart this information.

Boyer's trial will be the first such case to be heard before a French-speaking jury.

Earmark $350,000 To Improve Barley

WINNIPEG, (CP)—Renewal of the national barley contest this year with its $25,000 in cash prizes was described Monday by national barley contest committee officials as only part of a greatly expanded program by Canadian brewing and malting industries to produce a better barley than anything yet known.

The aim was said to be a "grade of barley which would give Canadian agriculture the front place it already has in the world of wheat with No. 1 Northern."

In this work officials said the industries were planning to spend nearly $350,000 during the next five years. The scheme calls for establishment of the Barley Institute of Canada, as announced at the recent annual meeting here of the national barley and linseed flax committee. The institute will be located in Winnipeg.

One of the first moves will be a program of plant breeding research for the five Canadian agricultural colleges now carrying on this type of work, committee officials said.

Russia Will Train Millions To Speed Race in Research

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Russia's five-year plan for science contemplates the training of 1,280,000 technicians and 700,000 laboratory specialists with scholastic degrees.

Details of the tremendous effort Russia is making to recover from wartime losses of research institutions and to come abreast of other countries in the field of science are disclosed in official Soviet publications and other papers dealing with the program.

A recent "Soviet Information Bulletin" reported that the Germans destroyed 603 research institutions and stripped others of equipment and libraries. However, actual reconstruction or reconstruction of a substantial amount of that loss is well under way and the new program is directed primarily at a vast expansion in the whole field of science.

Research directly connected with military subjects, including atomic energy, is only one phase of the program. Research in other subjects is given high priority.

On the basis of available information, here are some of the phases of the integrated program to accelerate Russia's race in research in addition to the training of the scientists:

Establishment of a ministry for precision instrument manufacture. Special inducements for Soviet scientists, including not only salary factors but extra rations, housing accommodations and other facilities. Cash and honorary awards carrying prestige are added inducements.

Communist party organizations are responsible for seeing that research institutions carry out their work, reporting them when they fail.

'MISSING' PLANE LANDS
NEW YORK, (AP)—A United States army weather plane, unreported for several hours on a flight from Stephenville, Nfld., to Bermuda, landed safely at Bermuda Monday, the coast guard reported.

U.S. Court to Rule On Anti-Petrillo Act

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The United States supreme court Monday granted a government request that it rule on constitutionality of the Lea act, sometimes called the "anti-Petrillo law."

The government appealed to the high tribunal from a decision by a district judge that the act is unconstitutional. James C. Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians (A.F.M.), had contested the law.

The Lea act prohibits compelling broadcasters to hire more employees than needed "to perform actual services." Petrillo was accused of violating the act by calling a strike at a Chicago radio station.

Skilled Labor Pool Found in Germany

BERLIN, (AP)—German (Reuters)—Government delegations from Europe and the United States are arriving in the British zone of Germany to study allocation of the skilled labor available in displaced persons camps.

Britain, France and many smaller powers have discovered up to 130-

800 skilled men and women, many imported into Germany as slave labor for Hitler's war machine, are available for work.

COLLIER'S CREW RESCUED

Veterans and Taxis

If the Edmonton city council is so moved by solicitude for the welfare of veterans that it maintains the limit on taxicab licenses for their special benefit, it seems strange that so many veterans have applied for these licenses in vain. Why so assiduously protect the interests of some veterans and be so deaf to the appeals of others?

A case in point. One pair of young men are anxious to open a taxi stand in a part of the city quite inadequately served by present taxi companies. They have an imposing petition signed by reputable citizens who would be their potential customers. They also have the recommendation of officials of the Department of Veterans Affairs.

The license limit has been extended on several occasions. Why should it not be extended again for the benefit of these young veterans—and others like them? Edmonton could give simple business to more cabs than are operating in the city at the present time.

The logical move would be to remove the restriction on licenses entirely. But, if council is definitely committed to the principle of limitation, it should, to be consistent, raise the limit to give opportunities to all veterans, properly attested and vouched for, and not to just a few.

If there is to be any kind of limitation, it should not be a barrier to accredited veterans.

A Truce With Crime

Vancouver's under-world fraternity wrecked the city's police force. That is the meaning of the report handed in by the investigation commission.

Eighteen officers who lost their jobs and half a dozen others who must accept demotion or quit, can blame the criminals for their humiliation and their financial losses present and prospective. They are penalized for failing to enforce the law—whether because they were too tolerant or because they were in league with the gamblers and gangsters and panders does not matter so far as this fact is concerned.

Technically these men were "fired" and demoted by the city authorities. But in reality they are victims of the law-breakers. These, for purposes of their own, made truce with the policemen and under-mined the law-enforcement system. The officers who allowed them to do so, thereby became their protectors, for whatever reasons and on whatever terms. It is to this discharged and demoted officers owe their troubles—and their small prospect of future employment or advancement in their chosen occupations.

Policemen are supposed to enforce law, not to wink at violation of the law. That is what they are sworn to do and paid to do. When they do not do it they become traitors to their employers. And in the end the crooks they protect cannot protect them.

These are the basic facts, which for one reason or another seem to have been forgotten or ignored by a contingent of the Vancouver force who had particular cause to remember and respect them.

The salutary effect of this shameful spectacle must not be confined to Vancouver. If elsewhere in Canada a police force has made truce with the under-world this treacherous compromise with the enemies of the public should be summarily ended. All across the country there should be a sharpened sense of responsibility on the part of law-enforcement officers.

No Rush About It

Professor MacEwen of the University of Manitoba is not superstitious. He discredits the idea that "7's" have anything to do with the occurrence of bad winters in western Canada. It is only coincidence, he says, that the winter of 1946-47 resembles the winter of 1906-7 and the winter of 1886-7 in heavy snow, continued cold weather and severe storms.

For the matter of that there have been more "6-7" winters which were moderate than the other kind. And we have had some winters of exceptional severity which were not indicated by numerical combinations in which either of these figures appear. The winter of 1919-20 was a case in point. There is no solid basis for a theory on ten-year weather cycles with 6-7 marking the extreme years.

The Professor makes another point, of very practical importance. He hopes that the present heavy blanket of snow across the prairies will melt slowly, slowly enough that the resulting water can soak down into the soil. The alternative is a rapid thaw, flooded areas, with most of the snow-water running off uselessly. Farmers generally are no doubt also hoping for a gradual melting.

People who are yearning for a quick break-up are rather temperamental. They are tired of winter and long to see the world turn green again. But if the snow should vanish too soon under the spell of a hot sun and warm winds, would spring follow?

Not if experience hereabouts counts for anything. Who has forgotten the long in-between season last year—and the year before that—when the snow had gone long before rains were due, when the soil dried out day after day, when dust storms swirled from Edmonton's unpaved streets, and in places earth and seed were blown from the fields?

It will be as well if winter lingers in the lap of spring for a while yet, and then departs gradually, sending the water down into the soil to quicken the life germs in the seeds as soon as they are sown in April and May. The shorter the period between the disappearance of snow and the sowing of seeds in fields and gardens, the better. After the rigors of a "real" winter, there will be some compensation if it merges into spring in a way to give a good send-off to the crops.

Looking at Our Ice

It can only be hoped that apple pie doesn't break out in the office of Pravda when the news from Washington gets to Moscow. It seems that U.S. super-fortresses have been patrolling the triangle bounded by Alaska, Greenland and the North Pole. Also "in return for co-operation by Canada" the U.S. army has turned over several super-forts to the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Repercussions from this announcement can be expected in the Moscow papers at any time. If the shock does not paralyze the faculty of expression.

Not that there is anything in the news to excite other than scientific interest, there or elsewhere. There isn't. Primarily the big planes are being flown over the icefields for the same reason others are being flown over areas in the torrid zone. The object is to find out how they behave in extreme temperatures and other unusual weather conditions. Since Canada happens to own the polar triangle where the tests are being carried out, this is likely enough what Washington refers to as "co-operation."

That the patrolling airmen have seen anything other than the way their planes act in a cold atmosphere, and the rather monotonous panorama is not stated. Perhaps if they go near enough to the Pole they occasionally hear greetings to Russian airmen likewise patrolling the triangle indicated by Spitzbergen, Wrangel island and the Pole, similarly engaged in trying out their machines in the frigid area. But they haven't said so.

But this will not reconcile Pravda to the operations. Its mission is to impute provocation to democratic countries anywhere and everywhere, and especially in the polar regions. Not because Premier Stalin and his advisers really think these countries or any of them have designs on Russia. But because communist propaganda can only be carried on by attributing such designs to the democratic states.

Pravda and its associates have taken a leaf out of Hitler's book. The particular leaf in which he alleged that Poland was plotting an attack on his super-armed Reich. So there will be nothing surprising if they go into hysterics on hearing that U.S. airmen have been taking a peak at Canada's polar bears in their native habitat.

Nazi Dementia

It is easy to say that the Nazi conspirators who planned to exterminate the population of Britain and the United States by spreading germs of the black plague and other deadly diseases are "crazy."

But if they are demented it is the dementia of malice. They are off-balance because they are filled with hatred and have nursed the idea of vengeance until it has unseated their reason. No person in his right senses could imagine such a plot would really succeed. But who can estimate the tragedy that might have followed if the Allied authorities had not unearthed the plot and rounded up the plotters before they got their fiendish scheme going?

It may as well be assumed that these "lunatics" are incurable. No other supposition would be safe. Nor is there any solid ground to suppose that they can be cured. Most of them were infected with Nazism while they were children. The poison is in their system and there is no hope of getting it out. To talk to them about "democracy" and the "decencies of civilized life" would only be to incite them to action. For these are the things they hate, "with their whole soul, heart, mind and strength."

If non-Nazi Germans are to have a chance to rebuild their country to a trustworthy place among the nations, this generation of Nazi incurables will have to be kept under guard. And the Allies will have to maintain keepers, in the form of occupation troops, until the anti-Nazi Germans become so strongly entrenched they can take over the job.

The Allied "watch on the Rhine," and far beyond it, will have to stay there, probably for twenty years at the least.

The Tenancy Problem

By HARPER PROWSE, MLA

There was one phase of the recent changes in rental control policy announced from Ottawa recently which will be welcome to at least some veterans. That is the change in eviction regulations which will permit a person who bought a home between Nov. 1, 1944, and July 25, 1945, to appeal to the rental authorities for the right to occupy that home on the basis that he needs it more than the present occupant.

There is a comparatively large number of veterans who, on their return to Canada, or on their discharge from the forces, bought homes in the expectation that they would be able to get possession. Rather than keep them empty they rented them believing they could get possession when they required them. In many cases they were led to believe that they would be able to do so. As it worked out, however, many of these men found that the tenants wouldn't move. Up until the present there has been precious little that the owner could do in order to get occupancy.

Now, if the owner can satisfy the court that he needs the home more than the tenant does the tenant will have three months to find other accommodation. And whether he finds it or not he will have to get out anyway. After all, there is something to be said for the rights of an owner in occupying his own property—especially if he needs it more than the other fellow does.

THE QUESTION of commercial rentals is not of such social importance as the question of domestic rentals. But it is interesting to note that where the 25 per cent increase is asked for, the landlord must offer a two-year lease which the tenant will have the privilege of cancelling on 30 days notice. This seems to give the tenant the right to ask for a reduction any time he thinks the situation is favorable.

But in everybody's mind at the present is the question of what is going to happen to domestic rentals. With the housing situation still acute and across-the-board relaxation of controls could well prove to be disastrous. Many people, especially those in the lower income brackets, are paying far more than they can really afford in the way of rentals at the present time. As this is where the pressure is strongest these are the people who are most apt to be hurt by any relaxation.

TO SUGGEST that it is necessary in order to stimulate building for rent is just so much eye-wash. Rentals on new properties are set by rental controls on the basis of the accommodation offered and the landlord has the opportunity of getting a "fix" before he ever offers the properties for rent. This means the rentals will be fixed on the basis of his representations and the tenant doesn't get a chance to tell his story until after the fix has been made.

There are apparently some cases where rentals were frozen at a level which was set in the depression years by sympathetic landlords to give hard-up tenants a break. Under certain conditions it might be desirable for landlords caught by such circumstances to be given an opportunity of receiving some upward revision. But there hardly seems to be any justification for any across-the-board increases.

Patriotism Not Enough

BY ELMORE PHILPOTT

When I read about the roundup of the revived Fascist organization in Germany, I thought of Nurse Edith Cavell—shot by the Germans in World War I.

Miss Cavell was a sort of gentle spy. That is, she broke the "laws" of war and obeyed the obligations of patriotism by assisting British war prisoners to escape from the hospital in Belgium where she served.

The German court martial found her guilty, but foolishly shot her.

Miss Cavell became a martyr—has thousands of monuments to her on many of which are inscribed her most famous words, uttered to her spiritual adviser just before she was executed: "Patriotism is not enough."

THE GERMAN Fascists who are trying to make a comeback are also "patriots" according to their warped ideas of Hitlerism. They were betting on two things:

1. War against the Soviet from the west.

2. Blackmail warfare, in which a few men with bottles of deadly germs could wipe out whole cities.

AT THE SAME time as the neo-Nazis were rounded up, a German scientist was frankly telling newspapermen that there was and is no real secret about the atomic bomb.

Yet in spite of the obvious implications of these facts, the nations go through the motions of power politics as if we were living before 1914 and not in 1947.

The clear-eyed Englishwoman who said "patriotism is not enough" some thirty years ago, was just that much ahead of her time. What is dead—now in 1947—is not any economic system or ideology, but rather the nation as a satisfactory and sufficient governmental unit to maintain law and order.

After two world wars in our own lifetime, and with the "enemy" nations defeated more overwhelmingly and completely than nations were ever defeated before, we "victors" find ourselves saddled with the costs of armies and armaments greater than in any history.

Both Britain and the United States have peace-time conscription—which they never did before the war—and because of their absence from industry finds her whole economy bogged down.

THE FINAL folly of "nationalism" is seen in all its naked ugliness by the talk of World War Three. For the supreme stupidity of that talk is not that it helps lead the world toward disaster by sowing the idea of the inevitability of man-made evil. Rather it is that none of those who so glibly assume war can tell you why the world would be any better off when the war was finished.

No honest authority challenges the evidence that, in the event of such a war, much of the earth would be left an even worse shambles than Germany now is.

Yet not a single one of them can tell you why the victorious nations could set the ruined world in order better after World War Three than they could—if they really wanted to—now after World War Two.

THERE IS only one nation in the whole world today that is in a position to transform the United Nations into a general parliament of mankind, with power to make laws to keep the peace. That nation is the United States.

All the western democracies and eventually the whole world will "go along" with the United States in effecting such transformation on certain conditions.

1. The world body will have to be positively for peace and prosperity for all peoples and not organized negatively against any nation or ideology.

2. Nations which agreed to pool their defence forces would have to be guaranteed as much freedom of economic system as they now have. That is, democratic socialist countries like Britain, Australia and New Zealand cannot be "pooled" into the North American capitalist system any more than North American free enterprise could be submerged, against American wishes, from outside.

3. The world body would have to "come clean" on the imperial and colonial question, guaranteeing to all now subject people freedom from foreign overlordship.

The Dissolution of Prussia

BY DOROTHY THOMPSON

Poland and the Ukraine. Historically, it was always separated from Bohemia by the Sudeten mountains and originally from the other German states, south and west, by chains of mountains, or hills.

The territory between the Elbe and the Oder had seen a century-old struggle between Teutons and Slav. In the time of the great migration of the dark ages, it was abandoned by the Germans. There was a great Slav rising in 983. It was reconquered only after the tenth century. But the state of Brandenburg was firmly established by the twelfth century and was the parent of Prussia, although Prussia as a state and kingdom only came into being at the beginning of the eighteenth century (1701).

The Prussian military spirit existed in the east long before there was a state of Prussia. Russia was glad of it during the Napoleonic wars when Prussia contributed to Napoleon's defeat, and Russia defended the enlargement of Prussia at the Congress of Vienna. This Prussia became the creator of the modern German state.

THE MILITARY nature of Prussia grew out of a social system which, for its time, demonstrated efficiency for defence in a peculiarly vulnerable geographic position. Prussia (and Europe) in the East had no easily defensible frontiers. The vast Slavonic world pushed upon it through the wide-open plains as it, in turn, pushed upon the Slavonic world. The military leadership in the East, however, protected Germany for centuries during a time when no military leadership elsewhere in Germany was able to prevent Europe's wars being fought on her soil. Germany was overrun by foreign invaders during the thirty years' war and later by Napoleon—whom only Prussia among the German states effectively resisted. It was this capacity which gave Prussia military leadership, originally the capacity for defence—not aggression.

Now, no decrees of military commanders and no rearrangement of German states can dissolve history or geography. What is left of Prussia may be distributed among other German states with other names. But the land, population, and problems will still be there. And unless a presently nonexistent system of collective security is devised, the long-range problem of defending Germany and Europe in the east will still be there, as it has been for centuries. The fact that Germany has been an aggressor in two wars does not eliminate the problem of how she can be defended against aggression. As this column has tried many times to point out, the incapacity of the states to defend themselves, or the lack of any system of collective defence, has always been, historically, an invitation to new aggression.

NOTHING, ALSO, is more disproved by history than the theory that militarism is the heritage only of certain social classes. Hitler was not a Prussian Junker but an Austrian proletarian, and the modern Wehrmacht was German, not Prussian. Napoleon was not a product of the ancient regime, but of the French revolution.

The problem of Germany is dual. First, it is how to prevent her from again trying to dominate the other European states. Second, it is how to protect those states from possible future aggression from the presently strongest power on the Eurasian continent—either in union with Germany, or through the power vacuum left in Germany.

The fact that there is, so far, no answer to both these questions is the reason why there is very little likelihood that the forthcoming Moscow conference will produce a German peace treaty.

Western Irrigation—3

BY PETER DEMPSON

The spectre of recurring drought still haunts the farmers of the prairie provinces, although P.F.R.A. is doing a lot to banish this bugbear from their minds.

For nearly 12 years now, P.F.R.A. has shown through its developments of small and large water projects—which includes irrigation—that drought can be conquered. Its program has resulted in appreciable benefits to agriculture.

The main benefit is to the livestock industry by creating or improving water facilities on pasture and feed lots, and by the production of reserve supplies of forage grown under irrigation. Improved water supplies have also had a beneficial effect on farms generally, both in regard to water for domestic purposes and for the irrigation of gardens and orchards.

SASKATCHEWAN is getting its share of water development under P.F.R.A. The large projects include storage and irrigation works on the large rivers and streams, and are intended to serve community needs and provide for reclamation on a community scale. Small projects consist of dugouts, stock-watering dams and irrigation systems. These are developed for the purpose of providing water on individual farms from the smaller streams and local run-off.

The larger projects are usually constructed by contract and the total cost paid by P.F.R.A. In the case of small projects, financial assistance is provided under P.F.R.A. on a self-help basis to cover only part of the construction costs.

DEVELOPMENT of small water projects is very popular among prairie farmers, due in large measure to the benefits which are conferred on individual farm operators. In the 12 years of P.F.R.A. operation, 32,948 of these were constructed in the prairie provinces. The Dominion government provided financial assistance amounting to $3,026,906. Of the total, 21,347 were built in Saskatchewan with Ottawa supplying $2,450,152 in financial aid.

From the inauguration of the P.F.R.A. programme in 1935 to March 31, 1946, work was undertaken on the construction of rehabilitation of 103 large water development projects in the prairies. The total P.F.R.A. expenditure was $4,683,088.

ONE OF the biggest undertakings was the completion of the Caron storage project at a cost of approximately $750,000. It was the realization of a 50-year-old dream of Moose Jaw pioneers—the bringing of water from the South Saskatchewan River near Riverhurst to Moose Jaw, a distance of nearly 90 miles. The water is pumped from the river into a reservoir at Riverhurst and flows by gravity in an open canal to Caron. From a storage basin at Caron, 19 miles northwest of Moose Jaw, the water is piped into Moose Jaw.

In Saskatchewan, irrigation schemes now in operation cover about 60,000 acres. The largest project is the $220,000 Val Marie scheme, constructed in 1936. Some 3,000 acres receive water from the Frenchman's River. Crops grown in the district attest to the value of irrigation. The Dominion government has spent more than $1,400,000 in the development of other irrigation projects in the province. These are at Swift Current, Eastend, Maple Creek and Consul.

The second largest project is the second largest project is being developed. When properly plotted, it will irrigate about 25,000 acres. Already the project has cost about $650,000 but to date only 3,000 acres are in use. The main dams and irrigation system were a federal government undertaking. It is up to the municipalities and individual farmers to utilize the water.

THE IRRIGATION projects operating at Val Marie, Eastend, and Maple Creek serve about 225 farmers and delivery of water is made to approximately 9,500 acres of irrigable land. The Richardson-McKinnon scheme near Consul was completed in 1944. Served by the Cypress Lake storage reservoir, it has an irrigable area of 2,900 acres. About 20 farmers made use of it last year.

It would be physically impossible to irrigate all the land in the prairies. What P.F.R.A. is seeking to do is create little islands of irrigation by means of dams and dugouts on individual farms.

With many centres—including some cities—hard pressed for a year-round supply of water, P.F.R.A. in its plans for the future is not losing sight of the fact that development of water sources is necessary.

FIVE TO FOUR IN FAVOR OF FLYERS with one game a tie is the official record for the season as Lethbridge and Edmonton start their best of five semi-final series at the arena tonight. Second game will be played here Thursday after which the teams go to Lethbridge and should a fifth game be necessary it will be played in Edmonton.

Flyers have won four out of five starts against Maple Leafs in Edmonton, while Lethbridge Leafs show three on the credit side along with a loss and a tie for the five engagements on their own ice.

In the meantime, while Edmonton and Lethbridge are settling their private playoff affairs, Calgary Stampede and Saskatoon Elks will be deciding who will be the other finalist for the Western Canada Hockey League this season.

Smitten Ace-in-hole

ON THE EVE OF THE SEMI-FINAL series, Manager-coach Riley Mullen of the Flyers, said Ken McAuley would be in goal as usual, with Pug Young and Bob Solinger on defence. Don Stanley, Elmer Kreller, and Bing Merluk are likely line starters with Freddy Smitten the ace in the hole.

Riley is hopeful Alex Pringle will be able to go tonight along with Cy Thomas, Johnny Black and Ab Newsome. Gordon Watt and Bim Barker will be the other defencemen. "Leafs still have a good lineup," was Riley's observation regarding Lethbridge chances.

Dave (Sweeney) Schriener said last night that Bill Brennan would be in goal for his club, but added that Joe Fisher would not be in the Leaf lineup either tonight or Thursday, although likely to be ready for Saturday. "Both Hall and Latoski will be starting tonight," added the former NHL ace.

Says Prystai Best in West

CECIL RALPH (TINY) THOMPSON, chief scout for Chicago Black Hawks is here for the Lethbridge-Edmonton series and "Rudy" Bilous, representing Buffalo Bisons, also will be giving the boys the once over.

"Tiny" isn't strong on all-star squads and he admitted he hadn't seen too many of the Western senior games. "I like Russ Dertell for goal, Michaluk and Young for defence and I'll vote for Hunter and Kreller as centres, with Fisher and Merluk on right and Grant and Shabapa on left. This Shabapa just can't be left off any Western senior team, although I'll agree he's more at home at centre."

Tiny wouldn't venture any guess on the Western junior situation, but he thinks Prystai the "best hockey player in the west today." The Hawk scout also believes Secco of Trail a real prospect. "I'll take Prystai any day over Knudson of the Pats, and Winnipeg Monarchs aren't out yet either."

And just for the record—the Leonard Lunde of St. Faith's (Second Pack) Wolf Cubs, is a nephew of the late Mel Lunde, a casualty of the Second World War. "You should see the way that boy can cut in from the right boards," says Henry White, who does even more than his share of Boy Scout work. "That Second Pack has scored 189 goals this season and Lunde, 10 years old, Frank Lycan (11) and Allan Olson (11) have accounted for all of them."

Over 2,100 Entries In Five-Pin Tourney

Entries are well over 2,100 for the annual tournament of the Edmonton Five-Pin Bowling Association which opens at Recreation alleys next Saturday afternoon. The above total, which does not include competitors in the city championship event, considerably exceeds last year's record list.

Mayor Harry Ainlay will officially open the tournament immediately prior to Saturday's 1 o'clock draw. Play will continue throughout next week.

BIGGEST delegation of visiting bowlers will be from Calgary, but for the first time Dawson Creek will be represented in the tournament, a contingent of 14 players from the Alaska Highway town taking part.

Eight of the entries in the "B" singles are from Dawson Creek—T. Fortin, W. Dutka, J. Dalsell, J. Wilcox, H. S. Wilcox, H. S. Patrick, C. Roberts, C. Thompson and W. Parent. "A" singles competitors from the north are L. Jordan and A. Johnston, while women's singles bowlers are Miss D. Bentley, Miss M. Hunter and Mrs. H. Feltham.

ONE ALL-SOUTHPAW team is entered from Edmonton, the members of which are Bill Newson, Ann Brydgard, Peggy Coyle, Mrs. Mamie McNabb and Eddie Beckwith.

Vic Batho is again tournament manager. President of the Edmonton Five-Pin Bowling Association is Jim Rutherford, while Mrs. McNabb is secretary and Grace Forbes treasurer.

Committee members are Tom Sianford, Bob English, Jack Edwards, Hec Turvey, Mrs. Lynn Page, Mrs. May Smith, Fred Stewart and Presty Giffen.

EDMONTON'S YOUNGEST: The record of Second Pack from St. Faith's Church, the city's youngest hockey championship squad, shows 189 goals for and 21 against during league and playoff competition this season. St. Faith's team, composed of boys from 8 to 12 years old, and the survivor of 18 teams operating in the Wolf Cubs League, which is Edmonton's youngest hockey circuit, disposed of 14 Pack from Knox Church two straight in the final playoff series, the scores being 6-4 and 6-4. The team won 16 straight this winter. In the lower row (left to right) are: Don Carle, Jack Warner and Ted Mahood. Standing are Allan King, Ralph Hutton, Frank Lycan, Leonard Lunde, Bob Davis, and Allan Olson (captain).

Highlands Golf Club Looks to Fine Season

By Bert Greer
Edmonton Bulletin Sports Writer

While the temperature hovered around 23 below zero and deep snowdrifts banked the greens and fairways, close to 100 members of the Highlands Golf Club laid plans for what they expect will be one of the best seasons in the course's history, at the annual meeting in the Masonic Temple last night.

Oblivious to the cold and with their thoughts directed solely on the balmy days to come when they will be socking out towering drives or dropping mashie nubbie shots to the "button", the enthusiastic meeting elected six directors to the board, heard of the number of improvements made last year and made a few recommendations for next season.

THE DIRECTORS elected were H. Burden, Johnny Glasgow, Ken Jennings, Burns Martell, Gerald Rice and G. H. Wilson. The board will elect a president at a future meeting.

President Gerald Rice, in his directors' report, uttered words of praise to Secretary-manager E. E. Wood, the caterers, Mr. and Mrs. Braseth, and the various committees who had helped him throughout the year. He also paid a glowing tribute to Henry Martell, who brought honor to the club by winning the Canadian amateur championship.

MEMBERS ALSO learned that the club had more than $3,000 in the treasury and that this year they would be assured of closely-clipped fairways, well-cooked meals and cold drinks. Mr. Price stated that a new Toro five-gang mower, a large hotel gas range and broiler and a large refrigerator had been purchased—and all are expected to be in operation on opening day.

A major improvement to the playing conditions was the designing and building of the new 7th green. Several new mats were purchased for the tees and hope was expressed that the grass tees would be enlarged in the near future.

HERBIE BLISS, chairman of the membership committee, and his helpers were lauded for their efforts. They were responsible for bringing in 100 new members last season.

Tommy Fyffe, with an eye on longer playing hours in the evenings, suggested that the meeting go on record as favoring daylight saving. Needless to say his proposal met with the unanimous approval of the meeting.

Considerable discussion centred on the prospect of installing a watering system for the fairways. It petered out, however, when Mr. Wood informed the members that there was a clause in the present lease that the club must use the city utilities and that he didn't think it could afford a watering system under those conditions.

Venue of Junior Final Protested

Edmonton Canadians, who dropped a best of five Alberta junior hockey final series to Lethbridge Native Sons, three games to two, gained the support of the Edmonton and District Hockey Association last night in their protest of the fifth and deciding game of the series being awarded to Lethbridge.

This protest was started March 27 before the series ever commenced, by the Canadian Athletic Club, which felt that if a deciding game was necessary, it should be played on neutral ice.

THE EDHA decided last night to give support to the Canadians' request that the CAC be given full executive consideration by the Alberta Amateur Hockey Association on the matter. Canadians are also asking that, if agreed by a vote of all members of the AAHA, the fifth game be replayed on neutral ice or that the series be extended to a best of seven affair with all remaining games on neutral ice.

A decision of the AAHA will not likely be forthcoming immediately, however, if all members of the association are to be contacted.

Carse Now Second In American Loop

NEW YORK, March 4.—(CP)—Phil Hergesheimer, Philadelphia Rockets player-coach, was held to three goals and an assist in his last four games, but that was enough to keep him at the top of the American Hockey League's individual scoring race, official statistics showed last night.

Hergesheimer led the scoring parade with 46 goals and 41 assists for 87 points, seven better than Cleveland's Bob Carse who jumped from a third place tie last week to the runner-up spot with 80 points. Carse remained the league's leading playmaker with 55 assists.

HERGESHEIMER'S 46 goals equaled the A. H. L. record set by Joe Bell with New Haven last year when his tally wasn't as good as Cleveland's Johnny Holota who boosted his goal-getting score to 47 during the week-end to break Bell's mark.

Three goalies were deadlocked for shutout honors, Harvey Bennett of Hershey, Baz Bastien of Pittsburgh and Conny Dion of Buffalo had five apiece.

Ed Bush of Providence, with 176 minutes, led in penalties.

Y Toilers and Pats Advance in Playoffs

YMCA Toilers and Army and Navy Pats advanced in the provincial basketball playdowns Monday night when they scored victories in a twin bill at NWAC drill hall. The Toilers, defending Alberta junior champions, ousted Central-Teens 27-21 in the deciding game of the best of three series, while Pats defeated Legionettes 24-10.

Gordon MacLaughlin led the Toilers in their struggle to victory with nine points while Gordy Woodman chipped in with eight. Ron Chapman and Dave Barnes with four each and Charlie Chiswick with two.

GORDON PEARCE led the Central-Teens with seven points, with Dunc Stockwell and Steve Mendryk adding five each. Al Purkiss three and Bob Fleming, who saw little action due to a recent injury, one.

In the first game the Pats won their way into the northern Alberta intermediate girls' final against Red Deer Ramblers by defeating the Legionettes 24-10 to take the two-game, total-points series.

Sylvia Calder and Eleanor McIntosh, although never figuring prominently in the scoring, played outstanding basketball for the winners and their defensive work was one of the reasons for Legionettes' low score.

DOROTHY ALLEN also turned in a nice effort for the Pats, both defensively and offensively. She was top scorer of the game with nine points.

The Pats scored enough points in the first period to win when they dropped in 11 to the Legionettes' one. Half time score was 14-5 and the scoresheet read 16-9 going into the last session.

The Pats will now entertain the Red Deer girls here on Saturday and will play the return game in Red Deer on Wednesday, March 12.

Woodcock, Baksi To Meet April 15

LONDON, March 4 — (AP) — Bruce Woodcock, British heavyweight champion, and Joe Baksi of Kulpmont, Pa., will meet in Harrington, Arena April 15; promoter Jack Solomons said Monday. They originally were to have met March 25 but the fight was postponed because Woodcock became ill.

Woodcock, abed for the last three weeks with influenza, is on the road to recovery.

Declares Dodgers Will Be Gentlemen

HAVANA, March 4 — (AP) — Leo Durocher, "baseball's bad boy," hinted Monday he intends to mend his ways.

The Dodger pilot talked about his meeting with Commissioner A. B. Chandler last November.

"The commissioner told me I had done nothing wrong," Leo said. "Nothing at all. But he said he didn't want anything to go wrong and suggested some of the people I was associating with might cause something unfortunate to happen. So I'm staying away from everybody."

"IT'S NOT SO MUCH certain fellows themselves," continued Durocher, "but you never can tell who they're going to bring around with them. So the first thing I, or some of the players, know, we're thrown in with the kind of people that just aren't going to do us any good."

Amateur Boxing Set March 20-21

The Northern Alberta amateur boxing eliminations will be held in Edmonton, March 20 and 21, at the U.S.O. hall. The winners will be sent to the provincial championships, which will be held in Cardston the week of April 7.

Competition will be held in the open, novice and junior classes. Applications for entry forms should be made to Constable C. W. McNicoll, Traffic Office, Edmonton City Police Station, Edmonton.

"That's why everybody, and I mean everybody, is going to be barred from the dugout, the field and our clubhouse in Brooklyn, with the sole exception of newspapermen, photographers or equipment men who have credentials and legitimate business with our players."

The "new" Durocher declared the Dodgers would be gentlemen from the "manager" down.

Nelson Takes Lead In B.C. Semi-Final

TRAIL, B.C., March 4 — (CP) — Nelson Maple Leafs displayed a last-minute scoring punch to rack-up a 2-0 victory over Trail Smoke Eaters in the first game of a best-of-five semi-final series here last night. The winner of the series will meet Kimberly Dynamiters, Western International Hockey League champions, for the right to represent British Columbia in the Allan Cup playoffs.

The Nelson sextet rammed home their first marker in the last minute of the second period and scored again with only 3½ seconds remaining in the final session. Bill Vickers tallied the first goal and passed to Doug Winslow for the second.

DUKE SCODELLARO, veteran Trail netminder, and Jesse Seaby of Nelson, turned in a spectacular goaltending performance throughout the game.

MANITOBA STOPS VARSITY BEARS

WINNIPEG, March 4 — (CP) — University of Manitoba Bisons turned back University of Alberta Golden Bears 6-5 here last night in an intercollegiate hockey game but the western college title already had been safely salted away by the visitors.

The Albertans took a 3-0 lead in the first period and held a 5-3 edge in the middle session, but three last-period goals by the Manitobans gave them the verdict over the travel-weary Alberta squad.

GEORGE BALLANCE paced the Bisons with one goal and two assists, while Clint Albright and Larry Travis picked up two goals apiece. Don (Red) McEae netted the winning counter.

Bill Dimock, Younger, Boyce, Lyons and Macdonald tallied for the Bears.

ALBERTA — Jeffries, Boyce, Soldan, Caldwell, Dimock, Suba — Cox, Dockery, Macdonald, Colborne, Younger, Lyons, Fraser, Gourlay.

MANITOBA — J. Dahl, Hobson, Travis, McCrae — Albright, Ballance, Suba — Nixon, Leier, L. Dahl, Sullivan, Halderson.

Officials — Lyndon and Ullman.

FIRST PERIOD: 1—Alberta, Dimock 5:00; 2—Alberta, Younger (Macdonald) 9:30; 3—Alberta, Boyce (Cox) 11:18. Penalties — Cameron, Nixon, McEae, Travis.

SECOND PERIOD: 4—Manitoba, Albright 1:46; 5—Manitoba, Travis 4:01; 6—Manitoba, Ballance (McEae) 8:24; 7—Alberta, Macdonald 19:30. Penalties — Younger, Nixon.

THIRD PERIOD: 8—Manitoba, Travis 5:03; 9—Manitoba, Albright (Halderson) 9:30; 10—Manitoba, McEae (Ballance) 12:14. Penalties — Colborne, McEae.

Ritchie Pee Wees Lead in Series

Ritchie took a one game lead in the best of three Canadian Athletic Club Pee Wee Hockey League. Monday night by turning back West End 4-3 in a tight contest. Second game is set for Wednesday at 119 street rink.

West End took a 3-0 lead in the first period on goals by Don Pearce, Sid Berco and Jimmy Dryden before Bill Geary cut the margin to make it 3-1 at the end of the frame. Jack Hunter added another for Ritchie in the second and Don Fraser tied it up early in the third. Three minutes before full time, Billy Geary broke the tie and gave Ritchie its victory.

Receives Assist While On Bench

NEW YORK, March 4 — (CP) — One for the book—a defenceman was credited with an assist while seated on the players' bench.

It happened Sunday. Steve Hyrman of New York Rovers carried a puck past the red line in a game against Valleyfield Braves of the Quebec Senior League. Hyrman was replaced "on the fly" by Jack Lancia, but before going off passed to Jack Gordon.

Gordon relayed to George Robinson, who scored. Gordon and Hyrman both drew assists.

Coleman Meets New Method Club

LETTERBRIDGE, March 4 — (CP) — Coleman Grands won the Southern Alberta intermediate hockey championship here Monday night by defeating Calgary's Arena Dukes 4-2 in the third game of a best-of-three series.

Dukes took the previous game 5-0 in Calgary and Coleman squared the series at home 4-2.

The Grands will meet New Method, northern champions, in the Edmonton arena Saturday night in the first game of the best of three series for the Alberta championship. The second match will be played in Coleman the following Thursday and the third game, if necessary, will be played on neutral ice.

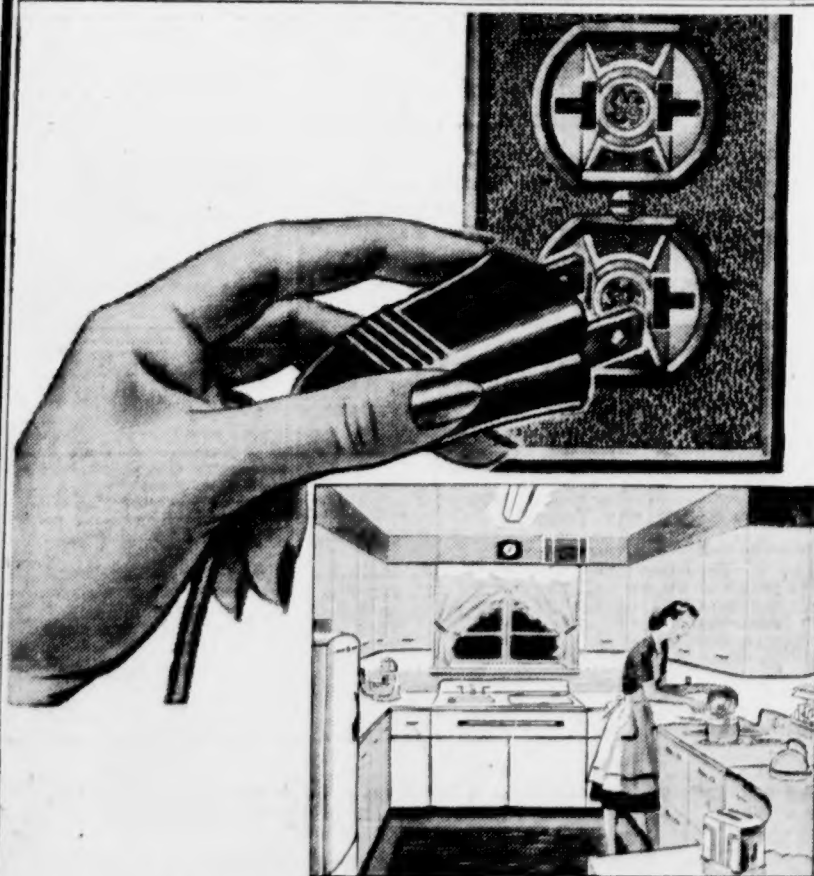

ADEQUATE WIRING...

the first step to Better Electrical Living

Enjoyable electrical living starts with the wiring system. Whether you're building, remodelling or just fixing up the house, look to the wiring. Ask your Electrical Contractor... Will the wiring system carry an electric range and water heater? Will it permit all appliances to work efficiently? Are there enough circuits to prevent overloading? Are there enough switches and outlets for convenience and comfort? When the answer is yes to all of these questions you will be able to enjoy to the full the economy and limitless pleasures of electrical living.

GENERAL ELECTRIC WIRING MATERIALS

You should make certain that all wiring is done with quality materials. Specify G-E products to your contractor. He will be glad to use only the best. The difference in cost between bargain wiring and that of the highest quality is a very small percentage of home cost. Your electrical contractor can show you why a first-class wiring job, with G-E wiring materials will save you money... why you won't need to think of the wiring system again for years... why it will serve without need for expansion... and why it increases the value of your house. You make sure of the very best when you specify General Electric Wiring Materials... known for years for high quality and dependable performance.

In the kitchen your wiring must provide for plenty of light on work surfaces and for convenient outlets for radio, mixer, kettle and all the other small appliances.

Plenty of light exactly where you need it is important in the laundry, too, and you'll need enough circuits to carry the washer, the electric drier and the ironer.

In the bedroom you will require sufficient outlets for bed and dresser lamps, electric blankets, clock and radio. Provide also for a vacuum cleaner outlet in the hall.

To enjoy your living room fully, you need plenty of outlets to be able to place table lamps, picture lamps, radio, clock and furniture just where they're most convenient.

Everyman Theatre Coming to Edmonton

The visit to Edmonton of the Everyman Theatre (Western Canada Repertory Company) which plays a two night stand at the Garneau auditorium, Friday and Saturday of this week, marks something new in Edmonton's dramatic history, and indeed a forward step in the development of the west.

THE CITY HAS seen plenty of professional touring companies in days gone by. Sarah Bernhardt herself acted here in 1912. But the young actors of the Everyman Theatre were born and raised in Canada, and are making a living on the stages of their own country.

Here is Canadian talent, according to theatrical authorities, getting a break in Canada, for a change. For too many years, young people of ability have been forced to go to the United States or England, and Canada is the poorer for their going.

Recruited from the pick of civic theatre groups and drama schools in western Canada, Everyman actors are students, teachers, ex-servicemen. Their director is Sydney Risk, who ten years ago came home to Vancouver from his own stage apprenticeship in London, determined that some day he would organize a theatre company in which young Canadians learned their job by working at it in Canada.

CHOICE OF A Canadian play, Elsie Park Gowan's comedy "The Last Caveman" is a green light to Canadian playwrights.

On tour this winter from Vancouver to Winnipeg and back, working double shift as their own stage crew and bucking weather conditions on the prairies, the actors have had the compensation of packed audiences and warm applause. "Their performance sparkles," said the critic of the Winnipeg Free Press. "To say that the players were good" writes another reviewer, "would be putting it mildly. More publicized names have given off with a lot less than these fine Canadian players in a play that is a slice from real life."

IN EDMONTON, Everyman Theatre will present, on Friday March 7, Oscar Wilde's comedy masterpiece "The Importance of Being Earnest," in Edwardian costume and stylized settings. On Saturday matinee and evening performances, "The Last Caveman," which concerns the adventures of certain characters on a lakeshore not fifty miles from Edmonton.

The Everyman players are Lois McLean, Edmonton; Esther Nelson, Ponoka; Shirley Kerr and Peggy Hassard, Vancouver; Hilda Nual, Powell River, B. C.; Floyd Caza, Saskatoon; Ted Follows, Winnipeg; Ron Rosvold, Calgary; Arthur Hill, Ed McNameara and David Major, Vancouver; Murray Westgate, Regina; Drew Thompson, Ottawa.

BATTALION PARADE There will be a parade of the reserve battalion of The Loyal Edmonton Regiment at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Prince of Wales Armory.

Ranchers "A Little Puzzled"

Filly Is Born With Brand

Freeman L. Misener, a stock rancher from Chauvin, believes he has one for the record which will keep all stockmen and ranchers pondering.

Munday in The Edmonton Bulletin editorial office he exhibited snapshots of a filly which was born with the registered brand mark of his ranch.

He says he believes this is the first time such a thing has ever occurred.

Asked if he had a theory regarding the phenomenon, Mr. Misener said he had branded the filly's mother about five months before it was born.

"It might have been a certain amount of shock," he said. "I have never heard of such a thing before and I have branded thousands of horses."

The mother's brand was on the left shoulder, he said, and the colt's left hip clearly showed in a growth of white the registered brandmark "X."

Slight Increase In Disease Cases

Communicable disease cases reported to the city health department during the week ended Feb. 28 totaled 122, compared with 113 the previous week according to a report filed with the city commissioners by Dr. G. M. Little, medical officer of health.

There were 69 cases of chickenpox compared with 49; 40 of measles against 54, six of mumps against three; two of rubella compared to one, one of scarlet fever against three and four of whooping cough compared with two the previous week.

Miss Olga Kochanuk will be crowned queen at Riverdale Community League carnival to be held at the league rink on Tuesday night, it was announced at a meeting of the league Monday.

BEN HAGER, education committee, reported on the popular weekly talkie shows. Norman Bryant, dramatic director, will direct a play, "Tea Pot on the Rocks," to be presented by the league next month.

L. L. Pound and Mrs. J. Moon were appointed delegates to the mass meeting of various organizations Sunday in the Memorial hall to the Cost-of-Living meeting called for that date.

Election of officers and a membership social will be held April 7, it was announced.

LEAVES POST: H. Milton Martin, long-time resident of this city, widely known business man and welfare worker, who resigned his post as public administrator, District of Mackenzie, N.W.T. He is succeeded by J. E. Gibbons, K.C. of Dawson City. Mr. Martin has carried on the work of administrator at the Dominion government's request for some years after asking to be relieved of the post. He will continue his other activities here.

Says Labor Heads In Wrong Way

There is so much work to be done in the country and so few men to do it, that labor appears to be heading in the wrong direction when it asks shorter hours of work, O. B. Moore (S.C., Ponoka) told the Legislature Monday afternoon in the throne speech debate.

There will be plenty of time to talk reduction in hours later, Mr. Moore thought, after production had caught up to demand. At present the main problem is to give the worker sufficient returns for his labor and also to give him freedom and democracy.

"Union leaders," he said, "are doing too much talking to their followers and not enough for them." He said workers should take steps to ensure a democratic deal from their leaders.

He deplored the fact that people are turning to oil burners for their heating. The oil must be imported and deprives miners of work and the resultant returns should coal be used.

CFRN Celebration Attracts Hundreds

Large throngs of citizens turned out Monday evening to witness the switch-throwing ceremony which transformed radio station CFRN from a 1,000 to a 5,000-watt station.

PREMIER ERNEST Manning officiated at the moving of the switch and spoke briefly in a congratulatory address. He was followed in a message of congratulation by Mayor Harry Ainlay, G. R. A. Rice, owner-manager of the station and pioneer Edmonton radio protagonist, was congratulated by Premier Manning and Mayor Ainlay for his contribution to radio here.

Trocadero ballroom was brilliantly illuminated and decorated for the occasion as the station switched over in its dedication program to a coast-to-coast network of the CBC.

Scores of telegrams of congratulation were received by the station from all parts of Canada and the United States. These included messages from several Hollywood film stars including Bing Crosby and Roy Rogers.

BESIDES ORCHESTRAL numbers musical entertainment was provided by Cathryn Zender, soprano; Josephine Chamberlain and Helen Worden, Jack Dennistoun, Frank Williams, with Gaby Haas, and Trio with Dixie Dean. It is estimated that more than 1,000 persons attended the celebration during the evening.

Daffs, Onions For Welsh MLA

Saturday was St. David's day and all good Welshmen felt a nostalgic urge for the Cambrian hills, an urge which had not subsided for W. J. Williams, when he was speaking in the throne speech debate in the Legislature.

THAT HE might not forget the patron saint nor the emblem of his country, an anonymous group of Mr. Williams' friends about the legislative buildings tried to get a bunch of leeks to send him after he had finished his speech.

They couldn't find any leeks, but the Wales-born member blushed a rosy tint when a page boy left on his desk a bouquet of daffodils garnished with onions, roots upward.

One of the daffodils became a boutonniere and the rest, with the onions, disappeared under his desk.

Cities Favor Enumeration

Registration Plan Opposed

Request will be made to the provincial government that no change be made in the system of enumerating voters for provincial elections in Alberta cities.

AT A SPECIAL meeting of the city council Monday afternoon, aldermen expressed opposition to the proposed registration policy, to replace the present system of enumeration of voters.

Mayor Harry Ainlay and Aldermen J. B. Gillies and Fred J. Mitchell were appointed as a delegation to appear before the agricultural committee of the legislature to submit council's request that no change be made.

IT WAS REPORTED to the meeting that assurance had been given that the amendments to the provincial election act would be submitted to the agricultural committee for consideration.

Mayor Ainlay reported also that opposition to the change from en-

Hundreds Attend Community Function

Winter Carnival Queen Crowned

Between 700 and 800 community residents, skaters and spectators, thronged Highlands community league rink, 113 avenue and 61 street, Monday night for the annual winter carnival, and saw Miss Ora Fredericksen, 11347 67 street crowned Carnival queen.

DESPITE THE COLD weather, spectators crowded the rink and clubhouse to watch the interesting program of sports events planned for the carnival, which was opened by Ald. F. J. Mitchell.

Lyall Roper, was master of ceremonies assisted by Stewart Graham.

Ken Lewis, president of the Federation of Community Leagues, officiated at the crowning of the queen.

RUNNERS-UP in the contest for queen, Miss Diane Gittens and Miss Joan Seller attended the queen. Senior figure skaters of the league formed the procession behind the queen as she walked to the throne, and junior figure skaters formed a guard of honor through which she passed.

Marguerite MacGregor was train bearer and Lynn Graham carried the crown.

Figure skaters, about 40 children in all, under the direction of Bob George presented a sparkling exhibition of fancy and figure skating, as one of the highlights in the program arranged.

NOVELTY NUMBERS, and races for children formed the main part of the program. Speed skaters from Rossdale gave a clever performance of speed skating and jumping. Taking part were Don Wynn, Dominion intermediate speed skating champion; Bill and Babs Kasting and Peggy Craven.

Refreshments were served. Committee chairman in charge of the event included Harvey W. Mar-

Kiwanis Club Honors Telephone Inventor

Alexander Graham Bell's inventive genius first showed itself at the age of 15 years when he invented a process of washing grain for a miller, and maintained itself in full flower all his life until his death at the age of 75. Walter B. Ferguson, assistant general manager of the Alberta Government Telephones said in an address to the Kiwanis Club Monday at the Macdonald hotel.

The address was given in honor of the centennial anniversary of Bell's birth, March 31, 1847.

"WHILE THE WORLD knew and honored him for the invention of the telephone, Alexander Bell's genius manifested itself in other inventions and in his contributions to the scientific knowledge of his day and ours," Mr. Ferguson said.

Tracing the progress of Mr. Bell's life, Mr. Ferguson recalled early boyhood days in Edinburgh, Scotland, when the genius that was to come to full fruition later, first showed itself.

Mr. Ferguson paid tribute to the parents and the grandfather of Alexander Bell who, in their kindness and interest to both their sons, Melville and Alexander, encouraged and sponsored their early excursions into the world of scientific endeavor.

BELL'S FATHER was a teacher of visible speech for the deaf, and his work and experiments in teaching the deaf to speak, inspired Bell to work with the idea of sound and sound transmission. His mother, and later Bell's wife, were both deaf, and Bell's sympathy to the deaf and determination to do something to alleviate their condition was his constant inspiration.

Bell himself was a teacher of the deaf. The family came to Canada in 1867 and in 1868 Bell took a position as teacher in a school at Boston.

FRIENDS HERE put up the necessary money to finance his experiments in telephone work. On March 10, 1876 the first telephone message—from one room to another—was received by Bell and Watson, a friend.

In October 1867 the first recorded two-way conversation telephone message pronounced the telephone a success. On September 1, 1877 the first successful talk between two far away points—Montreal and Quebec City—was made.

From then on, telephone lines and system sprang up all over the United States and Canada and Bell lived to see his invention acknowledged one of the most important single factors in the industrial life of the 20th century.

Roy W. Henry was chairman and Paul Siddiquis, US consul in Edmonton, thanked the speaker.

Grants for Roads Queried in House

In a brief exchange with the cabinet, Charles Holder, (S.C.-St. Albert) learned in the Legislature Monday that grants made to municipalities for market roads were allocated by the department of public works and not the department of municipal affairs.

IT WAS DURING the debate on the throne speech "at the St. Albert member had asked for permission to question the minister of municipal affairs as to whether grants for market roads would be allocated on a 50-50 basis as in the past or some other system of allocation would be adopted.

Hon. C. E. Gerhart, minister of municipal affairs, shrugged off the question by telling the member that the allocation was made by the department of public works.

Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works, said he could not reveal plans which will become public when the budget is brought down.

The St. Albert member said that for the municipality to expend the 50 per cent necessary for market roads left them with little to deal with other roads.

Airlines Official Is Visiting City

Dale Merrick, Minneapolis, assistant to the vice-president, operations division, North West Airlines, arrived in Edmonton from Minneapolis on Tuesday for consultations with local officials. He is accompanied by Lee Smith, the company's vice-president for the eastern region.

Tuesday morning they were in consultation with airport officials and their local representatives, W. F. W. Hancock, special representative to the vice-president, eastern region and H. Lee Huston, Edmonton station manager for the NWA.

Both are guests at the Macdonald hotel.

Government Action Is Urged To Continue Control of Rents

Exception is taken to the principle of the "general increase in business rental by 25 per cent" which may be followed by similar increases in residential rents, in a motion appearing on the legislative order paper Tuesday in the name of Elmer E. Roper (CCF Edmonton).

The motion urges that the provincial government ask the federal authorities to reconsider their stand, to establish the principle that increases in rentals for either business or residential properties, be permitted only in individual cases, and only in these individual cases where it can be shown that "the increase is justified by an actual increase in expenses."

The CCF member's resolution urges that should the federal government not give heed to the plea for considering each case on its merits, the provincial government "give consideration to the implementation of a provincial rental control based on the foregoing principles."

"Patients Like Cattle," Says MLA

Alberta Mental Hospitals Under Fire in Legislature

A "gloomy picture" of conditions in Alberta mental hospitals was drawn in the Alberta Legislature Monday by W. J. Williams, (Veterans Edmonton), when he said that on a recent visit to the Oliver hospital "he found patients milling around like cattle in a stockyard."

Taylor Lashes At CCF Members

Socialism can only come to Canada when democracy falls, Gordon Taylor (SC-Drumheller) said in his address in the throne speech debate in the Alberta Legislature, Monday afternoon. As he lashed out at Elmer E. Roper, CCF provincial leader, for calling the Alberta Bill of Rights "a gigantic hoax."

DEMOCRACY will fall if present inequities are not removed from the financial system, Mr. Taylor said, declaring the Alberta Bill of Rights was designed to remove those inequities.

The CCF had charged the Social Credit party with breeding hatred and with being anti-Semitic, but Mr. Taylor threw the charge back into the laps of the CCF by stating that it sowed class hatred.

In his opening remarks the member complained that his home constituency, now a Local Improvement District, was governed from Edmonton and outlined a partial program of public works which would be undertaken should the district be made into a municipality.

HE URGED upon the minister of public works the need for repair of roads from Calgary to Drumheller.

Mr. Taylor charged that senior governments following the last war had not acted democratically and said the same thing was happening again, and instanced his charge by repeating that both wars were fought for a better order and for peace and security.

Ex-War Pilots Get TCA Posts

Western Canada supplied 19 of the 33 former RCAF airmen who qualified recently from the Trans-Canada Air Lines pilot-training class, with four from Alberta, six from B.C., six from Manitoba and three from Saskatchewan.

SOMETHING NEW in the way of charter flights was recently recorded in eastern Canada when a group of Moncton hockey fans chartered a TCA 21-passenger airliner to fly from Moncton to Halifax for a senior amateur hockey fixture.

Regional offices of TCA were recently opened in the British West Indies with W. G. Courtney as traffic manager.

Mr. Courtney commenced service with TCA in 1937 and was formerly at Montreal.

Admit Veteran To Alberta Bar

Howard Judson Bishop, graduate in arts and law from the University of Alberta, and distinguished veteran of World War Two, was admitted to the Alberta bar by Chief Justice W. R. Howson at a ceremony held Saturday at the court house.

MR. BISHOP, who is 29 years old, was born in Edmonton and received his early education here. He graduated with the degree of bachelor of law at the University of Alberta in 1940, and immediately joined the 1st Battalion, Edmonton Fusiliers, and later saw service in England, Italy and northwest Europe. He resigned from the regiment in March, 1946, with the rank of major.

He was presented for admission to the bar by A. Fraser Duncan, K.C., senior partner of the law firm of Duncan, Cross and Johnson, and will continue to practice law with this firm. He was articled to the firm after leaving the armed forces.

Lauds Tax Cut On Alta. Farms

Final speech in Monday's debate on the Speech from the Throne in the Legislature was made by W. Masson (SC, Wainwright) who congratulated the government for its forward plans in reducing taxation on the farms.

MR. MASSON calculated that with elimination of the social service tax, the payment of hospitalization and other charges for pensioners and increased grants to municipalities the farmer was being saved five mills on taxes. He urged that the bounty on exports be increased to $10, feeling that the present returns to those who would hunt these pests was too low.

The danger of the coyote menace was growing yearly, but he suggested to the minister of lands and mines that if the bounty was increased to $10 there would be no menace in two years.

WEDDING BELLS: Movie Actress Bonita Granville, 23, and her groom Jack D. Wrather, Jr., are caught by camera-men following their marriage in Beverly Hills, Calif. Wrather, 28, is former son-in-law of Texas' Senator W. Lee O'Daniel.

Actress Has No Use For Hollywood Males

By Aline Mosby

HOLLYWOOD, March 4 (BUP)—In this town, a good man is hard to find. The minute you figure you've cornered one, he turns out to be married, or a wolf. Or both.

"IT'S DARNED discouraging," sighed Cathie Downs, who's dated a heap of eligible men heretofore, doesn't want to marry any of 'em and doesn't give a bale of hay who knows it.

Cathie used to be a New York model. The darling of the chewing gum ads, the slick fashion magazines and mail order catalogs. You know what she misses most about the big city?

NOT THE NIGHTCLUBS, nor Hansen's drugstore, the Broadway hangout, nor the theatres.

"Sure the ones I go out with, like Kurt Krueger and Guy Madison, are nice," she said, "and I enjoy their company. But generally speaking, the New York male has a lot more to him than the Hollywood variety."

Okay, New York men, here's where your husbands stretch a little.

"New Yorkers," said our expert, "are much more gentlemanly than Hollywooders. Why, Eastern men send flowers, they dress better and act more intellectual."

BEST OF ALL, said she, when she met a New York Wolf she knew he was one.

"An Eastern wolf comes right out and admits it so you know where you stand," Cathie pointed out. "Hollywood wolves hide behind sheep's clothing."

She thinks it's the climate. Too much sunshine turns males here into informal creatures with too bright ties and too fresh ideas.

"I'M RESIGNED to my fate," she said. "Maybe I won't get married at all, but anyway I'm here to stay."

"Here" is 20th Century Fox studio, which made Miss Downs a star in "My Darling Clementine." If you saw her, bet you never guess that pretty face once was married by 25 scars.

When Cathie was just a babe, in Port Jefferson, Long Island, a neighbor's pooch ripped the skin from her forehead, cheeks and mouth. The doctor said she had once chance to live, and if she did, she'd be blind and mute.

Well, the doc put the future star on the Downs' kitchen table and sewed her face back on. In two months she could see, in eight months she could talk. Now there's only two dim scars left and Cathie is one of the prettiest girls in town.

"BUT THE KIDS at school called me scarface for many years," she grinned.

Blue-eyed Cathie was spotted by an actors' agent in Phoenix, Ariz., when she was on a modeling tour for a Chicago mail order house. She rushed back to New York, talked it over with mamma and decided to take a whack at Hollywood.

But her model agency didn't want to lose her, and tried to queer the deal by telling an interested studio that Miss D. never would be good for anything but show-girl parts.

"That made me mighty determined to show 'em," she said.

She did, too, by golly. Waded through a couple of show girl parts and finally got her big dramatic chance in "The Dark Corner."

CONDITIONS among the mental patients of the province was one of the two major points, Mr. Williams stressed in his address.

The heart of a bird can beat too fast for the human ear to follow.

Kennedy Drops In Scoring Race

MONTREAL, March 4 (CP)—With the exception of Boston's Milt Schmidt and Detroit's Billy (The Kid) Taylor, all National Hockey League scoring leaders were low point getters during the weekend and Toronto's rapidly falling Ted (Teeter) Kennedy dropped from fourth to sixth berth.

Leader Maurice Richard, Montreal, earned a goal to boost his total to 40 and 23 assists for 63 points, four more than Max Bentley, Chicago, who garnered an assist to follow with 25 and 34 for 59. Doug Bentley consolidated his third berth with two assists for 21 and 34 for 55 points.

Before The Magistrate

A plea that he was drunk "and didn't know what he was doing," did not save Carl Engstauk, 3536 103 avenue, from a jail term when he appeared before Magistrate A. I. Millar, K.C., in city police court Monday charged with theft.

HE WAS GIVEN three months imprisonment after the magistrate heard evidence from a department store detective, who stated that the accused was observed taking a pair of gloves and a pair of shoes from a counter Saturday.

Later when searched, the accused was found to be carrying two scarfs and 20 handkerchiefs also alleged to have been stolen from the department store.

Engstauk has two previous shoplifting convictions.

Nineteen Divorce Decrees Granted

Nineteen decrees absolute of divorce, and one nullity of marriage were granted in supreme court Monday by Mr. Justice Boyd McBride.

The decrees absolute of divorce were granted to: Edward G. Stanton from Lorraine J. Stanton; Clarence Parsons from Rose Parsons; Walter J. Steen from Evelyn B. Steen; Michael J. Tipman from Grace B. Tipman; Antoine Belcourt from Peter D. Belcourt; Thomas A. Minter from Ethel I. Minter.

Present Trophies Won at Carnival

Trophies won by contestants in the recent Alberta indoor skating championships were presented Saturday night by A. A. Campbell, city comptroller and vice-president of the Amateur Skating Association of Canada, at a ceremony held at the Ice Palace.

HE PRESENTED the Lon Cavannah trophy to Bill Kasting, winner of the senior men's Alberta Indoor Championship, and gold medals to Babs Kasting, Bill Koros, Peggy Craven, Bill Good, Connel Kelly, Billy Hobbs and Myrna McLeod. Medals were also presented to the winners of the hockey players' race—Bob Gray of the Canadians and Pete Wright of the EAC. The Dominion Speed Skating Champions, Don Wynn and Doreen McLeod were presented with their trophies, and were commended for their performance.

W. Hobbs of Westmount made the presentation for the Federation of Community Leagues. The Gordon E. Winkler trophy, won by Rosedale, whose skaters had the highest aggregate points, was received by Mrs. E. Barlow.

THE ORANGE CRUSH trophies presented to the community leagues for second and third aggregate points were won by Westmount and Scona Centre respectively.

J. S. Clare of the Alberta Amateur Skating Association was master of ceremonies and Geoffrey Lovette of the Junior Chamber of Commerce was in charge of arrangements.

Labor Groups, AFU Agree on Program

Meeting of labor groups with the Alberta Farmers' Union, including a representative from the Alberta Teachers' Association, agreed on a review of legislative programs for the present provincial session that problems of each organization represented the common needs of the people of Alberta, R. J. Boutillier, secretary treasurer of the AFU, said Monday.

PRESENT to discuss the government's legislative program were James Henderson, representing the CCL; Jan Lakeman, president of the Edmonton Labor Council; W. McCloy, Calgary, representing the mine workers' division of the CCL; Gordon Cushing, Calgary, secretary of the Alberta Federation of Labor; G. A. McDougall, president of the Alberta Federation of Labor; J. W. Barnett, representing the educational council of the Alberta Teachers' Association; Car J. Stimpfle, president of the AFU; Mrs. L. E. Pharis and J. L. McMillan, AFU directors.

A form of legislative suggestions was also recommended for approval by each respective organization, Mr. Boutillier said.

It was agreed the organizations would work in close co-operation but without committing any to over-all affiliation.

Kellogg's CORN FLAKES

The Original
W. H. Kellogg

The flavour and freshness of Kellogg's Corn Flakes are in the news again! The eighth annual survey brings the same amazing vote: In more than 80% of Canadian homes (86.7% exactly) Kellogg's are considered the best-tasting of all corn flakes! Newsworthy also is the fact that more people are using Kellogg's Corn Flakes for odd-hour snacks... at bedtime... for the kids after school... besides at breakfast! Enjoy the FLAVOUR and FRESHNESS of Kellogg's any time—get some tomorrow.

Our interviewer found Annie helping with housework. "Her reward will be a bowl of Kellogg's Corn Flakes," smiled mother. "She usually has some after school, too. We think that delicious Kellogg's flavour is unbeatable!"

A furrier's wife told us: "We believe in a good breakfast to start the day right. A cereal with milk and sugar supplies 10% of the day's nutrition. We always have Kellogg's Corn Flakes. They get our flavour vote!" They're fresh too!

"Separating is hard work!" this out-of-town lady said. "You bet when it's done, I'm going to have a bowl of Kellogg's. They're a great between-meal snack... with the most delicious flavour there is! My whole family prefers them!"

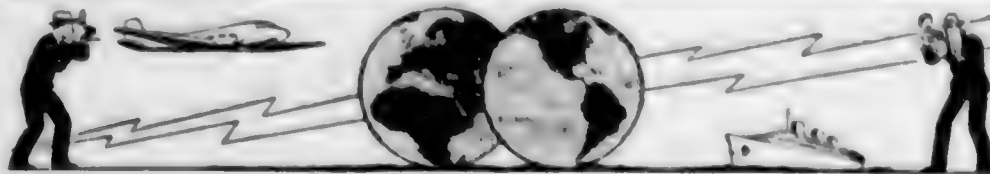

"Jack has exams coming up," said this teenager's mother, "so I guess he'll study till almost bedtime. Then, you can be sure, he'll have his usual bedtime bowl of Kellogg's! He says their flavour is 'tops.' They're grand in recipe too!"

YOU WIN! FROM NOW ON I'M GOING TO STICK TO KELLOGG'S AND BE SURE OF FLAVOUR AND FRESHNESS!

CAREENING BUS ENDS ITS RUN IN A NEW YORK CITY STORE

EX-GOVERNOR HAROLD E. STASSEN PREPARES FOR EUROPEAN TOUR

Copyright, 1947, by Arno Newspictures

CONGRESSIONAL DIGNITY has no meaning for George W. Sarbacher, Jr., (Rep., Pa.). When it comes to playing with his 10-month-old daughter, Susan, he's just like any other father. His wife, Florence, appears amused by their antics. Sarbacher, 27, is the youngest member of Congress.

UNEXPECTED CALLER—The proprietor of this New York City stationery store, "Across the Street," probably wishes he'd never moved. Two buses collided in front of his shop and this one careened through his new display window. Fourteen persons were injured.

ADVANCER—Ex-Governor Harold E. Stassen, of Michigan, is preparing for a European tour. He is seen here with a companion, looking at documents.

GOP PILOT'S PILOT DAUGHTER—Louise Reece, Johnson City, Tenn., daughter of the Republican National Committee Chairman, gets her "wings" from flight instructor Harry Burge at Columbia, Mo. She is a senior at Stephens College and won her private pilot's license in an advanced aviation course.

HELLO THERE—French actress Marcella Lanza waves a cheery hello from the deck of the SS America upon her arrival in New York City. Cold weather didn't worry her any, she came well prepared in furs.

WAYSTOP ON THE ROAD TO CYPRUS—These Jewish refugees had hoped to slip past the British and land in Palestine. Then ship docked at Haifa, but under heavy British guard. The refugees, hemmed in from the rest of Palestine by barbed wire and an armored truck, were given a DDT treatment and transhipped to Cyprus.

HIS FIRST SNOWSTORM—A young man from Chicago is seen here for the first time, enjoying the snow and cold weather. He is seen here with a companion, looking at the snow.

FRUITS OF VICTORY—After winning the National Cherry Pie Baking Contest in Chicago, Margie Field, 17, of Shelby, Mich., devours her prize winning pie. Looks good.

BABY CAN TAKE IT—When a heavy pre-dawn explosion shook a seven-square block area in Utica, N.Y., an unidentified mother threw this baby from a window of her home to the safety of a deep snowdrift. Here a doctor checks over the child who was unhurt.

TEMPTATION—Robert "Adam" East, Cynthia "Joan" Drake, and Ben "Sergeant" Towers form a tandem at the Art Students League annual costume ball held recently in New York City. Eve remembered to bring an apple.

EXPLOSION KILLS TWO—This is the wreckage of a Cincinnati, O., sawdust grinding plant that blew up. Two men were killed and another injured in the blast. The plant was wrecked but the smokestacks and lowering structure (center) withstood the force of the explosion.

City Artists Receive Honors

At the annual meeting of the Alberta Society of Artists held in Calgary recently three Edmonton artists were elected to associate membership. They are Mrs. Caroline Kaufman, member of the Alberta Society of Artists; Mrs. Dorothy Barnhouse, a former pupil of Mrs. Florence Mortimer and member of the Edmonton Art Club; the University Art Club and a one time student of the Vancouver Art School and Danforth School Club; the University Art Club and of Fine Arts. Mrs. Ruth Hales, also a former pupil of Mrs. Florence Mortimer, member of the Edmonton Art Club and the University Art Club.

All three are currently enrolled in the University of Alberta Art Department, and are working on their degrees.

The Edmonton artists have been elected to associate membership in the Alberta Society of Artists, a body which lectures all across Canada on the various subjects of art, and which promotes the art of the province.

Pin-Ups' Pictures "Spoiled" Soldiers

Many wives have waited in loneliness and anxiety for the return of their husbands from the war, denying themselves all pleasure while they worked to keep their homes together and to rear their children without the help of a father, only to reap the bitter harvest of finding out that their sacrifices had been in vain. The long absence had estranged their husbands from them. Love was dead. And all that their G. I. Joes wanted was a divorce.

Thousands upon thousands of engaged girls have had a similar experience. The boys, who had been ardent lovers when they left them and for whom they have knitted sweaters and packed boxes and written enough letters to paper the universe, have lost their taste for their old sweeties and instead of presenting the lassies with the wedding rings they expected, they have given them the brush off.

EVEN THE bobby-soxers, who have cut their teeth on romantic stories about dashing young soldiers who were coming home from the war by battalions and who were all crazy for girl friends and dates and going places and having fun, are asking WHERE are these glamorous creatures who were to be the answer to a maiden's prayer for a "steady," but who have failed to show up as per schedule.

Neither the forsaken wives nor the maidens all forlorn have been able to explain the current attitude of the men who once loved them, but have ceased to love them. And the mystery might never have been solved were it not for a young army officer who has unriddled the riddle.

He says that it is all because of the pin-up girls and the magazine cover girls and the model girls whose pictures during the war have lined every barracks and tent and hut and fox hole, and that these so cultivated the soldiers' taste in feminine pulchritude that they cannot decline upon lesser beauty. With them a girl has to

If your ankles are too heavy, try exercise. If you are too stout all over you will need to supplement the exercises with reasonable regulation of diet. There is no sense in taking exercises to reduce one part of the body if you continue to eat all sorts of fattening foods. Here is an exercise for reducing ankles. Stand with legs crossed, toes pointing in opposite directions. Slide one foot out to the side, toe well pointed. Bring back to starting position. The same with the other foot. Repeat ten times with each foot.

PLANES OF THE FUTURE

For hundreds of years, airplane designers have been moving further and further away from the bird form. Today the flying machine (ornithopter) of Roger Bacon and Leonardo da Vinci has been all but forgotten. In its stead we have the plane which is held aloft by the lift of its wings and moved forward by some form of engine.

We also have the helicopter, a wingless plane, which rises and moves on the lift and force of a single rotating structure mounted above the fuselage. This machine, which owes much to the great engineer Igor Sikorsky, will fly at speeds exceeding 100 miles an hour; it will land perfectly still in the air; it can land and take off from an average-sized lawn.

This unusual amphibian (the Republic Seabee), shown backing up in the water, is designed to be a family plane. It seats four.

The helicopter should not be confused with the autogiro, which was invented by Juan de Clevra in 1919 and was first flown successfully in 1923. The autogiro uses an overhead rotor to ascend and descend, but is pulled through the air by a regular engine and propeller mounted in the nose of the plane.

A single rotor provides both lifting and forward power for the helicopter, with the pilot simply changing the pitch, or angle, of the huge rotor to control the plane in flight. If helicopters can be improved to the point where their speed compares with that of regular airplanes, they may become as common as automobiles. If they can be built large enough to carry more than a few passengers, they may replace most of the cross-country buses.

Meanwhile, much experimentation will go into standard airplanes. In the early days of aviation, every effort was aimed at increasing the lift of airplane wings, wings which were almost as wide as they were long. Nowadays, the airplane designer has so much power available that the wing has become little more than an accessory to the lift of airplane wings, wings which are almost as wide as they were long. Nowadays, the airplane designer has so much power available that the wing has become little more than an accessory to the lift of airplane wings, wings which are almost as wide as they were long.

When any object is sent into the air, gravity immediately begins to pull that object back to earth. In aviation, gravity contributes to a force known as drag. The larger the airplane, the greater the drag. When early aeronauts built large wings, they were getting increased lift, but increased drag at the same time.

Of course, size alone does not insure success in aviation. On the contrary, the very little airplane will bring aviation to most of the people in the world. Such airplanes, known as "personal planes," will cost less to operate than a small automobile. Some will be so simple to operate that almost anyone will be able to learn to fly.

The team of Mrs. Helen Sobel and B. Jay Becker of New York, Sidney Sulador and Charles H. Goren of Philadelphia, who flew to Brazil to play some friendly matches with South American teams, lost 1560 points on today's hand.

Both teams arrived at the six-spade contract, and in both games a small heart was opened. When the hand was played against Bee-

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

One of the most interesting interviews I have had in a long time was the one with Dr. George Lawton, the widely-known psychologist whose splendid book, "Aging Successfully," was recently published by Columbia University Press.

Dr. Lawton is eminently qualified through his training and personal practice, and his valuable work in counselling older men and women, to comment on human relationships and actions and to interpret it in intelligent direction. I asked him a great many questions about growing old happily, marriage, and feminine psychology. I am sure you will be interested in his ideas and answers, just as I was.

Dr. Lawton said to me, "You can render a great service to the women who read your column if you will impress on their minds the fact that men do not require physical beauty in the women they love. The women who remain fascinating to men through the years do so because of other qualities."

Physical attractiveness can be a bonus, and every woman should develop such potentialities, but according to this psychologist, who has heard the intimate life stories of so many men and women and has had the opportunity of observing human dramas at close range, the qualities which really draw men to women are inner vitality which translates itself into interested living, kindness, tolerance, and gaiety. He feels that physical attractiveness has been so over-emphasized that it has frightened women to death and has robbed them of much happiness

new in middle and later years. He pointed out the fact that many of the women who fall heir to ardent and lasting love are the "Mamma" type and cited instances he has known of women who were attractive to men into old age and yet who would be classed as almost homely by ordinary standards of beauty.

We all know this in a vague sort of way but often we forget it. Fear of aging and loss of attractiveness to the opposite sex puts brakes on an otherwise sparkling personality and leads to a negative viewpoint, frustration and boredom, and even to slumping posture. It does seem tragic to measure life in terms of so many years, so many gray hairs, or so many wrinkles, when all the magic of inner verve and enthusiasm, the adventures of mental activity and ideas, and the whole world of fascinating things to do, lie waiting to be tapped!

This message from an authority in human behavior should come as a breath of fresh air to those women who fear age, and with it, loss of physical attractiveness and love.

Dr. Lawton has made it possible for me to make you this offer. If you wish to have a list of questions he uses with his clients in order to test their psychological age, and directions for seeing yourself, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

Your Baby and Mine

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

Worrying about when training in toilet habits should be started could be put off until late in the first year. It is time enough then to introduce a small toilet seat, or a nursery chair and try to get the baby used to it for the regular bowel movement.

Obviously, the mother will have much more success with this if she selects the hour at which the child is accustomed to have this movement. Mothers, in the interest of a time-schedule which will be convenient to them, put the child on the toilet at the "proper" hour, in their estimation, and then try to hold him there until he is successful.

This tactic may come later. On the hour at which the child ordinarily has a movement, present the toilet-chair and hope for success. If the baby is successful this will inspire him to accept this new departure from his baby habits.

Bladder training should be held off until about the fourteenth or fifteenth month. The child has no conscious control over the bladder much earlier than this and catching him is merely an advertisement of his mother's alertness, not his co-operation.

When he becomes conscious enough of what he does to note a pool on the floor, or when he points to himself and tells that he is wet, is a good time to begin taking him to the toilet as regular, not too frequent intervals. Children sometimes wet as often as every 15 or 30 minutes but this does not mean they should have attention that often. The aim is to encourage them to wait the full hour, until they are taken to the toilet, even if there are mishaps between times, for a while.

The mother must avoid the temptation of putting the burden of telling her upon an small child. Keep giving regular attention, be pleasant about mishaps and prevent arousing any antagonism toward the stool or these toilet duties. This does work. It is the mother who becomes emotional, who berates the child for not telling her, or who uses the stool as a place of punishment when the child has an accident, who wakes up several months later and realizes that her efforts and emotion have complicated, not solved, the toilet-training process.

Our leaflet No. 65 "Toilet Training" may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with this request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

Points for Parents

Mother: "You're a bad boy to tease your sister . . . you're a bad boy to eat all the cookies . . . you're a bad boy to talk in that way to your mother . . . you're a bad boy . . ."

Mother: "I'll phone and ask Jim to come and play with you while sister's playing with her dolls . . . since you ate so many cookies, there will be none for your lunch."

When a child is told repeatedly he is bad, he not only continues to live up to his label, but begins to take pride in doing so.
